Jane Hayes Greenwood is co-founder and Executive Director of Block 336, an artist-run project space and studio provider in Brixton, South London. Working with a team of artists, all of which have studios that are set alongside the central gallery space, Block 336 has held ten exhibitions to date since opening in March 2012. Block 336 is a space which foregrounds emerging practices within a supportive and critical context, free from the constraints of the commercial market.
